LAW FIRMS WORLDWIDE

www.meritas.org

Is your company in compliance with the numerous laws governing personal data protection and privacy?

- What should you do if there is a data breach?
- How do you prepare for a potential data breach?
- How can you implement the various data privacy regulations and avoid challenges which others have faced?
- What is the scope of penalties on non-compliance, and how do you avoid them?
- What can you do today to make sure you're in compliance with GDPR and other regulations?

The legal landscape governing data protection and privacy is changing rapidly and the scope of work for in-house counsel towards their compliance is increasing. The Personal Data Protection Forum – Laws and Effects on Businesses Worldwide is an essential meeting for in-house counsel and compliance professionals who are looking to be updated on the above questions and more.

Why you should attend the forum:

- Leave with new insights about data privacy and protection regulations from multiple jurisdictions
- Gain up-to-date advice on potential risks associated with data breaches, and non-compliance.
- Actionable key take-aways from the forum to implement.
- Great networking and a shared learning opportunity with fellow in-house counsel.

* Free to attend – HK CPD points applied for
